

“New GOM Regulatory Landscape Requires Organizational Changes”

Client: Independent E&P Company

Client Challenge	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Post Deepwater Horizon incident, multiple Notice to Lessees (NTL) required action in order to continue operations in the Gulf of Mexico • Regulatory department understaffed and skills gaps present • No visibility to Exploration Permit and Application Permit to Drill status
Boxley Group Action	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Redesigned key regulatory processes to facilitate compliance with new regulations • Designed processes and tools for management reporting • Assisted in design and implementation of new Safety & Environmental Management System (SEMS) • Assisted with development of Well Containment Plan for Application for Permit to Drill (APD)
Results	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • New regulatory organization with clear roles, responsibilities and processes • SEMS Program with training material and corrective action plan after initial audit
Boxley Group Competencies	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Organizational Change Management • Process Optimization • Organizational Design and Capability